

GERMÁN BAHAMÓN JARAMILLO

Germán serves currently as Chief Executive Officer of the Colombian Coffee Growers Federation, entity that represents the colombian coffee guild integrated by 540.000 families located in more than 600 towns nationwide. He is an Agroindustrial Production Engineering from La Sabana University (Colombia), with a postgraduate degree from the CESA University. He also has certification in Executive Marketing Program from Northwestern University - Kellogg School of Management.

His work has been performed in companies listed as among the 100 largest in the world: Apple, Sony, Kimberly Clark, and he has been involved with community outreach.

Coffee has always been his passion, Germán is a coffee grower and entrepreneur focused on the production and export of high quality coffees.

Germán has been married for 16 years, has two daughters aged 10 and 13. He is very active in sports, beyond the boardroom he is a cycling enthusiast.

