Majestic volcanoes, varied microclimates and exceptional Guatemalan Coffees are among the attractions of the ICO's World Coffee Conference 2010. In a fast-changing world, the Conference will offer an unparalleled opportunity to address today's challenges with the coffee world's decision makers on economics, trade and the environment.

World Coffee Supply

- World production: changes in supply, impact of financial crisis
- Production costs: labour, fertilizers, transportation, risk management, alternative uses of land
- Support for producers: institutions and capacity-building, international aid programmes, governmental support, diversification

World Coffee Demand

- Geographic trends and changes in consumption habits
- Development of markets for coffee with special characteristics, the role of quality in promoting consumption and market development
- Market analysis: Impact of the economic and financial crisis (2008 onwards), outlook 2010 - 2020

Sustainability

- Environmental sustainability and climate change
- Social sustainability and the role of women and youth in coffee

Volcanes majestuosos, variedad de microclimas y los excepcionales Cafés de Guatemala son algunos de los atractivos de la Conferencia Mundial del Café 2010. Ante un mundo cambiante, la Conferencia ofrece una oportunidad sin precedentes para analizar los retos actuales con quienes toman decisiones en el mundo del café en economía, comercio y el medio ambiente.

Oferta mundial del café

- Producción mundial: los cambios en la oferta, el impacto de la crisis financiera
- Costos de producción: mano de obra, fertilizantes, transporte, gestión de riesgos, usos alternativos de tierra
- Apoyo al productor: las instituciones y construcción de capacidad, programas de ayuda internacional, programas de apoyo gubernamentales, diversificación

Demanda mundial del café

- Tendencias geográficas y cambios en hábitos de consumo
- Desarrollo de mercados para cafés con características especiales, promoción de calidad en el consumo y desarrollo de mercados
- Análisis de mercado: impacto de la crisis económica y financiera (a partir de 2008), proyecciones 2010 - 2020

Sostenibilidad

- Sostenibilidad ambiental y cambio climático
- Sostenibilidad social y la función de las mujeres y los jóvenes en el café

Conference Topics

Coffee is of exceptional importance to the livelihoods of millions of people, particularly in developing countries and the objective of the 2010 Conference is to bring together high-level stakeholders to analyse and discuss ways of ensuring a sustainable future for the world coffee economy.

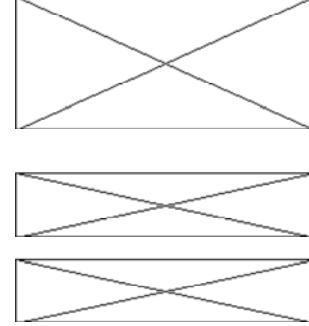

The Conference will take place in Guatemala City over three days on Friday 26, Saturday 27 and Sunday 28 February 2010. There will be an opening ceremony on 26 February, with the President of Guatemala, Presidents and Ministers from Member countries, and high-level representatives of multilateral organizations.

The Conference will take as its theme "Coffee for the future: Towards a sustainable coffee sector" and will comprise four main sessions:

-  Economic Sustainability: the economics of production
 - World Production: changes in supply, impact on financial crisis
 - Production Costs: labor, fertilizers, transportation, risk management, alternative uses of land
 - Support for producers: institutions and capacity-building, international aid programs, governmental support, diversification
- Economic Sustainability: the economics of demand
 - Geographic trends and changes in consumption habits
 - Development of markets: for coffee with special characteristics, quality, promotion of consumption and market development
 - Market analysis: impact of the economic and financial crisis (2008 onwards), outlook 2010 – 2020
- Environmental Sustainability
 - Climate change
 - Use of water
 - Pests and diseases
- Social Sustainability
 - Women in Coffee
 - Youth
 - Millennium Development Goals

Speakers for the Conference will be recognized experts in their field and the Conference will facilitate a free exchange of views and ideas with some of the most influential decision-makers in the industry, with full representation from producer and consumer interests.

Interpretation will be available in English, Spanish, French and Portuguese.

PRESS ACCREDITATIONS

3rd. World Coffee Conference

Accreditation Deadline: FEBRUARY 15, 2009

The World Coffee Conference 2010 is a worthwhile opportunity for journalists to increase their knowledge and to listen to World Economic, Commerce, Development and Environment Leaders, who will raise new programs for the current World Coffee Growing challenges and opportunities.

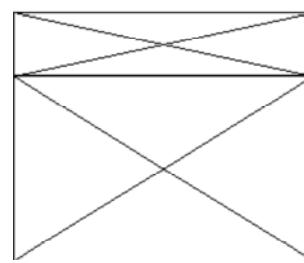

This will be the opportunity for you to know the opinion of these Experts on subjects like World Coffee Supply, World Coffee Demand, Environmental Sustainability and Climate Change, among others. The main subject: Coffee for the future: Towards a sustainable Coffee Sector.

In addition to the conference you will be able to visit the Exhibition Area where many companies related to the sector will display their products and services.

Participants will also attend the celebration of the 50th Anniversary of Anacafé, a governing Institution of the Coffee Growth Sector in Guatemala.

The first World Conference took place in 2001, in London, England. Later in 2005 the venue was Brazil, where the main subject was: Lessons we can learn from the crisis; New Coffee Paths for the Coffee Sector.

If you are a member of any Media of Communication we invite you to be a part of this event by filling in the corresponding Accreditation Form.
